

Exporter Boycott Checklist

Monday, February 23, 2015

The Export Administration Regulations (EAR) require companies to report any boycott requests they receive on a quarterly basis. Not sure what's considered a "boycott request"? Here are five example questions you could include in your process to check for any such requests.

- Do I know of agreements to refuse or actual refusals to do business with Israel or with blacklisted companies?
- Do I know of agreements to discriminate or actual discrimination against other persons based on race, religion, sex, national origin or nationality?
- Am I aware of requests for furnishing information about business relationships with Israel or with blacklisted companies?
- Am I aware of requests for furnishing information about the race, religion, sex, or national origin of another person?
- Do I know of requests for paying, or otherwise implementing letters of credit that include requirements to take boycott related actions prohibited by the antiboycott regulations?
